

Seeking members for Advisory Committees

Would you like to contribute to the regulation of therapeutic goods in Australia?

The Therapeutic Goods Administration (TGA) is seeking applications from experts in medicine, science and consumer perspectives and issues, to fill upcoming vacancies across seven statutory advisory committees.

Successful applicants will contribute significantly towards the TGA's regulatory functions by providing independent expert advice on matters across a broad spectrum of issues relating to medicines, medical devices, vaccines, and other products and substances.

Further information about the roles of the committees is available at <https://www.tga.gov.au/tga-statutory-advisory-committees>

The webinar of 1 May 2024 will also be published shortly on the TGA website, where you can hear first-hand from current committee members who provide their insight into these valuable roles and answer questions from the audience.

To apply, and find out more about the appointment process, go to the Department of Health and Aged Care jobs page. The deadline for applications is 11.30pm on Sunday 26 May 2024.

Enquiries can be made by email to committee.vacancies@health.gov.au
